4 Framework and structure

4.1 General

Where necessary the technical specification may be subdivided into several parts (e.g. EN XXXX-001, EN XXXX-002, etc., where Part 001 is always the general part).

In such cases all general requirements should be incorporated in Part 001 (general part) and the specific requirements in Part 002 onwards (specific parts). Annex A gives modified rules for the preparation of technical specifications containing more than one part.
