Foreword

This document (EN 16194:2012) has been prepared by Technical Committee CEN/TC 183 "Waste Management", the secretariat of which is held by DIN.

This European Standard shall be given the status of a national standard, either by publication of an identical text or by endorsement, at the latest by August 2012, and conflicting national standards shall be withdrawn at the latest by August 2012.

Attention is drawn to the possibility that some of the elements of this document may be the subject of patent rights. CEN [and/or CENELEC] shall not be held responsible for identifying any or all such patent rights.

According to the CEN/CENELEC Internal Regulations, the national standards organizations of the following countries are bound to implement this European Standard: Austria, Belgium, Bulgaria, Croatia, Cyprus, Czech Republic, Denmark, Estonia, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Hungary, Iceland, Ireland, Italy, Latvia, Lithuania, Luxembourg, Malta, Netherlands, Norway, Poland, Portugal, Romania, Slovakia, Slovenia, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey and the United Kingdom.

Introduction

There has been a necessity to use mobile sanitary facilities in many locations for more than 50 years. Since the early days, where they were mainly used on various construction sites, they have, over the years, been a convenient facility at both large and small events (such as the Olympic Games, the Football World Cup, World Youth Day, marathons, open-air-concerts, street festivals, weddings, during military missions, Papal visits, harvests, after natural disasters, in refugee camps, motorway rest areas, in open-cast mining, etc.).

Whenever large numbers of people congregate over a longer period in places where there are no or only insufficient stationary sanitary facilities, it has become established practice to deploy mobile non-sewer-connected toilet cabins.

Adequate provision of cabins allows hygiene and privacy.

This European Standard is directed at manufacturers, rental companies and renters of the cabins.

1 Scope

This European Standard applies to mobile toilet cabins (excluding dry toilets) that are not connected to a sewerage system.

It specifies requirements of the services relating to the deployment of cabins and the relevant requirements for cabins and sanitary products, taking into account hygiene, health and safety.

It specifies minimum quality requirements relating to cabins and sanitary products and also relating to the extent of cleaning required, the number of cabins to be provided, locations and cleaning/disposal intervals.
