FOREWORD

ISO (the International Organization for Standardization) is a worldwide federation of national standards institutes (ISO Member Bodies). The work of developing International Standards is carried out through ISO Technical Committees. Every Member Body interested in a subject for which a Technical Committee has been set up has the right to be represented on that Committee. International organizations, governmental and non-governmental, in liaison with ISO, also take part in the work.

Draft International Standards adopted by the Technical Committees are circulated to the Member Bodies for approval before their acceptance as International Standards by the ISO Council.

Prior to 1972, the results of the work of the Technical Committees were published as ISO Recommendations; these documents are now in the process of being transformed into International Standards. As part of this process, International Standard ISO 139 replaces ISO Recommendation R 139-1967 drawn up by Technical Committee ISO/TC 38, Textiles.

The Member Bodies of the following countries approved the Recommendation :

Australia	Germany	New Zealand
Austria	Greece	Norway
Belgium	Hungary	Pakistan
Bulgaria	India	Poland
Burma	Ireland	Romania
Chile	Israel	Spain
Czechoslovakia	Italy	Sweden
Denmark	Japan	Switzerland
Finland	Mexico	United Kingdom
France	Netherlands	U.S.S.R.

No Member Body expressed disapproval of the Recommendation.
